

An Answer to Mr. Roosevelt's Speech and Policy by W. R. Hearst

which was back of it—as worthless as a Roosevelt campaign promise, to bring the comparison nearer home.

Well, anarchy is again on its way in France. The theory is Communism, of course, but the FACT IS ANARCHY.

Witness Spain. Do we know how long it will be before the guillotine is again set up on the Place De La Concorde, and a modern Madame La Farge again counts the heads which fall into the basket by the knots in her knitting?

Why should American money be used to save the franc from going the way of the assignat?

Why should hard-earned and no longer abundant American dollars be employed to bolster up the financial and the political structure of France's Red radicalism?

MOREOVER, what RIGHT have we to lend money to France?

Does not the law of our land forbid it?

Does not the Johnson Act declare that America and Americans may not—SHALL not—cannot—loan further funds to repudiationist nations until they have honored their existing obligations?

Is Mr. Roosevelt entirely above the law, and completely defiant of all legal and constitutional restraints and limitations?

Furthermore, why should Mr. Roosevelt make further trade and tariff concessions to France to try to rebuild her industries which Communism is destroying?

Does not Mr. Roosevelt know that there are American industries which need rebuilding—American industries which have been taxed almost out of existence—almost beyond the possibility of competing with foreign subsidized and protected industries?

Does he not know that there are millions of Americans who have been thrown out of work through the invasion of American markets by French and other foreign products pouring in through the breaches which Mr. Roosevelt's corps of Communist miners and sappers have hacked in our tariff walls?

HAS Mr. Roosevelt no respect for American institutions and also no regard for the welfare of the American people?

What kind of a government have we in America?

It is certainly no longer a democracy when the will of one man prevails over the will of the people, and over the law of the land.

It is admittedly a dictatorship; but what kind of dictatorship?

Is it Communist?

Mr. Roosevelt declares he is not a Communist, but the Communists say he is one.

The Communists ought to know. Every cow knows its own calf.

Moreover, words, phrases, definitions, declarations, mean nothing to Mr. Roosevelt. His professions are as volatile as his promises.

The Communists may be misguided in many ways, but they are at least sincere. They say what they think. They believe what they say.

They hail Mr. Roosevelt as a comrade. Stalin hails him, and asks the Communists to support him.

Mr. Roosevelt declares he is NOT a Communist, but what about his Communist entourage?

They did not grow where they are—clinging round about him like the ivy green.

They were planted where they are—planted and nurtured with fat jobs and watered with public funds—because Mr. Roosevelt wanted that kind of rank growth about him.

MR. ROOSEVELT says HE IS NOT a Communist; but what about the Marxian Professor Frankfurter, Communist counsellor of the Administration and personal confidant of Mr. Roosevelt?

And what about the fiery and flaming labor lawyer, Richberg, Communist spokesman of the Administration, who assures us that the revolution is actually here?

And what about the terrible Tugwell, who preaches Bolshevism violently and wants to "surge forward with the workers and the farmers" and destroy the Union in class conflict?

And what about little Miss Pink Perkins, who wants all the Communists and criminals to be kept in the country and new ones to be invited in?

And what about I. W. W. Wallace, who is worth a dollar a day or less, and thinks that nobody should have more?

And what about Mr. Roosevelt himself, who promotes continually and consistently demoralizing class distinction and class division and class antagonism?

Subordination of the provident to the improvident, and of the competent to the incompetent, of the reverent to the sacrilegious, of the conservative to the criminal, and of all the higher classes to the fury and blood-lust of the lowest class, is the very essence of the Communist class conflict which Karl Marx teaches and Mr. Tugwell and Mr. Richberg and Dr. Frankfurter and Mr. Roosevelt preach.

MUST we now as a nation be comrades with France and Russia?

Must we now as a people sing the Internationale and raise the clenched fist, and open our arms and our pockets and our ports freely to all our brothers-in-blood?

Are we to let in all the riff-raff of foreign countries and tear down our tariff walls to import unreservedly all the cheap products of our impoverished comrades across the seas?

Are we to average our American standard of living down to that of the European laborer and peasant?

Are we to meddle in every European mess?

Are we to support every collapsed foreign currency and sustain every sagging foreign industry at the sacrifice of our own industry, at the cost of our own workers, and at the expense of our own harassed and over-taxed people?

Must we become Europeanized, Communized, Socialized, Bolshevized absolutely and on all occasions?

Must we give up our own institutions, our own welfare, our own customary progress and prosperity?

The good Lord forbid.

LET us rather give up Roosevelt.

Let us be rid of all foreign interventionists, and get back to the American principles and policies of Washington and Jefferson and Lincoln.

All of our troubles have come from throwing our wealth away in foreign wars and in foreign loans, from participating in foreign frauds, and adopting foreign follies.

We used to be proud of our Americanism and our American achievements and our American selves.

But the only "forgotten man" nowadays is the HONEST-TO-GOD AMERICAN.

Let us have a "New Deal" in Americanism, in the fine American policy of looking out first for the American people, and in minding our own American business.

RED GAIN LAID TO PRESIDENT

(Special to American Newspapers, Inc.)

New York, Oct. 3.—Responsibility for the spread of Communism in this country was laid at the feet of President Roosevelt by Supreme Court Justice William F. Brandeis, Republican nominee for governor.

Weighing his words with care, Justice Brandeis said: "In view of President Roosevelt's statement to the members of Congress that they should pass a law, even if they doubted its constitutionality, certainly the attitude of the executive in this office tends to encourage those who believe in Communism—especially in a period of depression, when Communism thrives most."

We have, today, two safeguards against the spread of Communism. One is the Constitution of the United States and the other is religion," he added.

Townsend to File Campaign Costs

Washington, Oct. 3 (AP)—Mr. Francis E. Townsend, head of the $200-a-month old-age pension movement, has decided to comply with the federal election law by filing a statement of political campaign expenses, it was disclosed today.

The regulation, nevertheless, stands as a violation of the act, designed to force publicity of campaign contributions until the statement is filed, said South Trimble, clerk of the House of Representatives.

Although the organization backed Representative Man (R.) of Michigan, in his congressional election to fill a vacancy months ago, and that the law requires quarterly reports, none has been filed.

AMORY BLAMES CHEAP JAPANESE TEXTILES FOR CLOSING OF AMOSKEAG MILLS

Inroads of cheap Japanese textile goods and the increasing menace of Japanese competition to American-made products made it hopeless for the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company to go on, in his opinion, Roger Amory, Boston financier testified today at the Sabbath hearing in the federal building.

Amory, a director and officer of the company as well as a member of the board of directors, testified that he had come to the conclusion in 1933 after three years of the continued losses of the company, that it was no longer feasible to keep the plant open.

Then, he said, "I felt that there was no hope of trying to go on."

Amory, who testified that the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company had been operating at a loss of $1,000,000 in 1933, said that he had been informed by the Japanese textile industry that they were planning to enter the American market in 1934.

Riding the Battlewagons: Governor Invades Greenwood Fort

Gloucester G. O. P. Site Aims to Win Foe Over

By L. CONANT, JR.
Believing into Essex county, the Republican state ticket and Representative Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., candidate for United States senator, will appear tonight at a big rally in Gloucester City Hall to be held under the auspices of the local Republican city committee.

In an address in Boston, Congressman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Gloucester, yesterday announced that he would support the Republican ticket in the state election. He said that he had been informed by the Japanese textile industry that they were planning to enter the American market in 1934.

At the time of his withdrawal from the contest as an independent candidate, Mayor Greenwood announced he would make public his reasons "later in the week."

It is expected that Greenwood's reasons will be heard probably later today or tomorrow.

At about the same time Judge Quin, whose ruling yesterday afternoon was to keep the town party designation on the ballot, told the press that nothing will be allowed to halt printing of the ballot.

The Cambridge appearance was in connection with a reception and dinner given by the League for Governor Cull at that city, at the Hotel Central, Mass. 2000 attended.

Thug Fells Roxbury Man as Wife, Baby Sleep

While his wife and baby slept in the same room, Daniel Donahue was beaten into unconsciousness today by a man who invaded his home in Whitely street, Roxbury.

Armed by the pounding, Donahue's wife, Mary, 25, saw her husband lying in bed in a pool of blood, fragments of a shattered milk bottle strewn on the floor and a strange man was standing by the side of her two-month-old baby.

Donahue was taken to the hospital, where he is now recovering from his injuries. The man who attacked him is still at large.

U. S. TO REPAIR OVERPASS

State Public Works Commissioner William P. Callahan announced today that federal officials have tentatively agreed to meet the expense which will be incurred in repairing the overpass at the intersection of the 121st Street and the Boston Harbor Bridge.

The overpass, which was built in 1912, is in poor condition and needs to be repaired. The estimated cost of the repairs is $100,000.

Callahan said that the federal officials have agreed to meet the expense of the repairs, but that the state will have to pay for the design and construction of the new overpass.

The new overpass is expected to be completed in 1937.

SPAIN REBELS WITHIN 20 MILES OF MADRID

Toledo, Spain, Oct. 1.—Persistent insurgents pounded a steel spearhead to within 20 miles of Madrid today as Socialist defenders retreated from Illescas. Advance patrols of one of three surging Fascist columns drove straggling government militiamen from the town 22 miles from the capital on the direct Toledo-Madrid highway and rejoined on north.

Two additional insurgent divisions marched toward separate objectives. The first operating from Toledo, pushed toward Avila, captured railway stations to the east and set out on 20 miles northwest of the capital.

The cities moved along the Maestrazgo-Madrid highway toward 20 miles northwest of Madrid.

"The back of the capital's retreat is broken," asserted General Jose Varela, commander of the southern Fascist forces in the campaign northward.

"Line of Steel" Waits Big Rebel Push

Madrid, Oct. 1.—Insurgent divisions pressed forward in scattered attacks on Madrid yesterday. The eastern units, in all, formed the "line of steel" awaiting the expected assault of the Ministry of War command.

The general advance believed to be the "big push" followed the fall of Toledo, the last of the insurgent divisions to fall to the north of Madrid, the official communication said.

Insurgent columns in the Maestrazgo region, meanwhile, pushed the front to within 20 miles of Madrid. The city, today in the hands of the rebels, was reported to be in the hands of the rebels.

Curley to Rule on WPA Cash

(Copyright 1936, by the Boston Evening American)

Investigation of the New Deal's plan to dump millions of relief funds into Massachusetts between now and election day reveals these facts:

The $36,528,453 promise of last week has shrunk already to $17,912,222.

The "new" projects are old projects re-approved.

This re-approval permits the launching of a new flood of New Deal publicity.

It also permits the resumption of the projects under a new set of regulations which give political control of the expenditure full sway.

If and when the funds actually arrive, Governor Curley will be in command over all Works Progress Administration projects for roadside beautification, farm-to-market roads and sidewalks, which means over virtually the entire set of re-approved projects.

Shrinkage of the $36,528,453 promise of last week has shrunk already to $17,912,222.

The federal government agreed to make the projects 100 per cent federal affairs, without any contribution required by the state.

men, one of whom had previously held a minor position.

The total of old projects sent in for reapproval, and the few additional old projects forwarded to Washington for the first time, made an imposing figure—$36,528,453.

Mrs. Albert M. Kales Heads
New Charity Group

By BETTY ALDEN

A NUMBER of prominent society women have joined their names to the ring of another worth-while charity, to bring it into the limelight and so all they can towards raising funds for it.

This new one is the Rutland Chapter's Association, of which Mrs. Albert M. Kales is president, and a long list of distinguished Bostonians' names appear on the list of sponsors.

Mrs. Kales has invited a number of prominent people to a tea at her Marlborough street home next Tuesday afternoon in honor of Chaplain Wallace Hayes of Rutland.

Everyone will hear more about the organization and its aims and purposes at this meeting, for the chaplain will informally address the guests on the subject of permanently establishing a fund to maintain a chaplaincy at the Rutland Hospital for Veterans, one of the largest veterans' hospitals in the state.

Proceeding the tea there will be a business meeting of the sponsors of the organization to elect officers to assist Mrs. Kales.

Jane Bogardus Entertains Bridesmaids

JANE BOGARDEUS received something new in bridal bouquets last evening when her bridesmaids surprised her by placing a novel favor at her place at the dinner table.

The occasion was the dinner party Jane gave for the six girls who will proceed her down the aisle Saturday afternoon when she becomes the bride of Martin H. Donahue, Jr., of New York.

It was too large for her to wear as the forethought for her to pin on her shoulder.

This was only one of a string of parties celebrating the wedding of Jane and her New Year's resolution (she and Martin announced their engagement New Year's Day). Ellen O'Donnell is entertaining the whole bridal party at a cocktail party this afternoon, an appetizer for Elizabeth Hollis' dinner party immediately after in Hingham, and tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. Bogardus are entertaining them all at a dinner dance at the Tedesco Country Club.

Several Couples to Move Into Country

IT IS QUARTERLY difficult to keep up with the changing fads and fashions of the social set.

This time of year when everyone has either moved back in town, or will do so within a few days, a number of people have decided to do just the opposite, and take up residence in the more rural communities.

Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Wells, Jr. (Virginia Baldwin), have settled down to being "country squires" in their new home in Mills. They have been living in Cambridge until they happened upon the old Adams house in Mills and liked it so well they bought and remodelled it.

Another couple which is becoming even more rural is Mr. and Mrs. James Mott Hallowell, Jr. (Mary McKee), who have bought a farm in the New England apple belt and intend to live there and go on for farming seriously.

It doesn't seem long since they had a housewarming party to celebrate the completion of their new little home in Concord.

... but time flies and soon they will be drifting off their friends to drive out to Poppleton to inspect the new farm.

They're been down to Chatham since the week-end, absorbing a little sea air at the McKee's summer home.

Those who have been in England and met or admired the members of Winston Churchill's family, will be interested in the arrival into this country in a steamer, and at the McKee's summer home.

Enters College

JANE BOGARDEUS has joined the ranks of girls who have their names in the educational grindstone for the autumn season. The last evening of her school days, she will have a few moments to spend for her debut in the social scene. On Saturday two weeks hence, she will be a member of the Junior-Senior Prom, and on the following day, she will be a member of the Senior-Senior Prom. This year she is going south to visit her mother, Mrs. G. Smith, and her father, Mr. G. Smith, in Cleveland, Ohio.

I have a great deal to say about the racing scene at the N. H. Fair. The competition with Rockingham Park has been of value and to the big local fair here as proved in the past four years. The racing scene is a very interesting one, and I hope to see many more good races in the future.

That's how the heat wave in the Northeast, which began Monday, is being described by meteorologists.

The peak of National Drought Relief Committee activities is expected to be in the next few days.
